1. What Are Cookies

Cookies are small text files placed on your device when you visit a website.

They are used to ensure the website functions properly, to improve user experience, and to understand how the site is used.

2. How We Use Cookies

This website uses cookies for the following purposes:

A. Essential Cookies

These cookies are necessary for the website to function correctly.

They enable core functionality such as page navigation and access to secure areas.
The website cannot operate properly without them.

B. Analytics Cookies

These cookies help us understand how visitors use the website.

They provide information such as:

- pages visited
- time spent on the site
- general usage patterns

This allows the website to be improved over time.

Where used, analytics services may be provided by third parties such as Google.

Analytics cookies are only placed where you have provided consent.

C. Functionality Cookies

These cookies allow the website to remember choices you make, such as preferences or previously entered information, to provide a more consistent experience.

D. Scheduling and Interaction Tools

If you book a meeting through the website, cookies may be used by Calendly to enable scheduling functionality.

These cookies support the booking process and are used only where relevant.

COOKIE NOTICE

3. What We Do Not Use Cookies For

We do not intentionally use cookies to:

- sell personal data
- deliver targeted advertising across unrelated websites
- build intrusive behavioural profiles

4. Consent and Control

When you first visit the website, you will be given the option to accept or manage non-essential cookies.

Non-essential cookies, including analytics cookies, are not placed on your device unless you provide consent.

You can withdraw or change your preferences at any time through the cookie settings tool available on the website.

You can also control cookies through your browser settings, including:

- blocking cookies
- deleting existing cookies
- setting preferences for specific websites

Please note that disabling certain cookies may affect how the website functions.

5. Third-Party Cookies

Some cookies may be set by third-party services used on this website, including:

- Google
- Calendly

These providers operate under their own privacy and cookie policies.

As part of their global infrastructure, they may process data outside the UAE and the United Kingdom.

6. Cookie Details

Cookies used on this website may include both session-based cookies (which expire when you close your browser) and persistent cookies (which remain for a defined period).

Further detail on specific cookies, including their purpose and duration, is available through the cookie settings tool or on request.

7. Updates

This Cookie Notice may be updated periodically to reflect changes in the website or applicable requirements.

The latest version will always be available on this website.
